HARDING RAPPED

Declares President-Elect Might be Mistaken Relative to "Decease" of League and Would Keep Germany

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Peace settled over professional baseball yesterday, when the opposing factions in the reorganization of the game reached an agreement on every point at issue and thus ended a war which for five days apparently had disrupted both major leagues.

Three hours of argument and verbal battles, which, although rather warm at times never were bitter, found the magnates emerging from their council chamber arm in arm, calling each other by first names and laughingly referring to the threats each side had made a few days ago.

The end of the fight came when the 16 club owners voted unanimously to make Judge Kenasaw Mountain Landis "chairman of baseball" and a committee of one to act as a final court of appeal in all matters of dispute between the two major leagues and any minor leagues which may join the majors in reorganizing the game. Judge Landis accepted the proposition, but it was stipulated that he might remain on the bench and handle both positions.

Each side in the battle made concessions before an agreement was reached, but the meeting unanimously approved "the principles of ethical control of baseball" included in the Lasker plan which was fostered by the eight national and the Chicago, New York and Boston American League clubs and which started the fight. This plan originally was bitterly opposed by President Byron Bancroft Johnson, of the American League and the Philadelphia, Washington, Cleveland, St. Louis and Detroit clubs, which sided with him. In other matters, however, the 11 clubs favoring the Lasker plan, conceded points to the five opposing it. Instead of a civilian tribunal as the governing body of baseball, Judge Landis probably will remain the final judge, although the club owners may decide later to appoint two civilian associates to act with Judge Landis.

If the one-man commission is retained the president of each league will be a special pleader for clubs under him. All matters will be taken up at joint meeting of the two leagues, where the vote will be cast by clubs. If there is a division, a vote then will be taken by leagues, each organization having one vote. If they cannot agree, the two presidents then will appear before Judge Landis and his decision will be final.

This arrangement is a compromise between the plans suggested by the two sides. The 11 clubs wanted the vote to be entirely by clubs, while the Johnson faction held out for a vote by leagues. The two plans were combined.

Immediately attempts will be made to bring the minor leagues into the plan. A committee of six, three from the National League and three from the American League, will confer with a committee of six from the minor leagues. If the minors come in, they will be given the right to appoint a special pleader to appear before Judge Landis when matters involving them are considered. Judge Landis' term is for seven years, and then an election will be held by all leagues in the plan to determine who shall be commissioner. He will have power to question any player, club owner or league president and to take any action he sees fit in all cases. The leagues agreed to sign a contract to abide by the judge's decisions.

Chicago will be headquarters for the baseball commissioners and officers will be opened here immediately.

If second and third members are chosen for the commission it is virtually certain, according to the club owners, that Judge Charles A. McDonald, of Chicago, will be one of them, although no vote was taken yesterday.

Judge McDonald indirectly brought on the baseball war, for he started the baseball scandal investigation which brought about the proposals for reorganization of control of baseball.

After the grand jury baseball investigation had developed so that it took in prominent men in many sections of the country, A. D. Lasker, a stockholder in the Chicago National League club, proposed that control of the game be placed in civilian hands as an assurance to the public that there would be no more scandal. A letter was sent to all club owners making this proposition, William Veeck, John McGraw, Barney Dreyfuss, Garry Herrmann and others signing it.

A meeting was called here and all the major league clubs except the Washington, Philadelphia, Cleveland Detroit and St. Louis American League clubs sent representatives. At this meeting the 11 clubs went on record as favoring the Lasker plan and notified the other five clubs that unless they joined in the plan by November 8 a new 12-club league would be formed. Last Monday both factions met here and when Johnson's side refused to join the New National League was formed. This league of course now automatically is out of existence.

Dollar Day

Feast of Bargains Go On Sale Wednesday

Dollar Day, the biggest and best of all big bargain festivals is coming again and the merchants of the city are busily engaged in preparing for this record breaking event.

Next Wednesday, November 17, is the date that has been set by the Retail Merchants' Bureau of the Chamber of Commerce for the celebration of this big day and bargains that are claimed to be bigger and better than ever before will be listed for the choosing of the Dollar Day shopper.

Dollar Day is celebrated in this city four time each year and next Wednesday will be the last opportunity for thrifty shoppers to get in on one of these events until next February. Coming right at this season of the year with Thanksgiving and Christmas looming big in the offing, there is no reason why Dollar Day next Wednesday should not be one of the biggest special sale events of the entire year.

The greater portion of the local merchants will take part in the sale of Dollar Bargains and without doubt every shopper can find what he or she needs at a price that is within the reach of everyone.

PRESIDENT CALLS ON AMERICANS TO OBSERVE THANKSGIVING

Washington, Nov. 13.—President Wilson issued his Thanksgiving proclamation last night, saying that "in plenty, security and peace, our virtuous and self-reliant people face the future," and setting aside Thursday, November 25, for the usual observances. The text follows:

"The season approaches when it behooves us to turn from the distractions and preoccupations of our daily life, that we may contemplate the mercies which have been vouchsafed to use, and render heartfelt and unfeigned thanks unto God for His manifold goodness.

"This is an old observance of the American people, deeply imbedded in our thought and habit. The burdens and the stresses of life have their own insistence.

"We have abundant cause for thanksgiving. The lesions of the war are rapidly healing. The great army of freemen, which America sent to the defense of Liberty, returning to the grateful embrace of the nation, has resumed the useful pursuits of peace, as simply and as promptly as it rushed to arms in obedience to the country's call. The equal justice of our laws has received steady vindication in the support of a law-abiding people against various and sinister attacks, which have reflected only the baser agitations of war now happily passing.

In plenty, security and peace, our virtuous and self-reliant people face the future, its duties and its opportunities. May we have vision to discern our duties; the strength, both of hand and resolve, to discharge them; and the soundness of heart to realize that the truest opportunities are those of service.

"In a spirit, then, of devotion and stewardship we should give thanks in our hearts, and dedicate ourselves to the service of God's merciful and loving purposes to his children.

"Wherefore, I, Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States of America, do hereby designate Thursday, the twenty-fifth day of November next as a day of thanksgiving and prayer, and I call upon my countrymen to cease from their ordinary tasks and avocations upon that day giving it up to the remembrance of God and His blessings and their dutiful and grateful acknowledgment.

TO LAUNCH CRUSADE AGT HOME BREWING

Internal Revenue Bureau Confirms Report of Move

MATERIALS BANNED

Beer Brewing For Family and Bona Fide Guest Held to be Illegal by the Department

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.—The Internal Revenue Bureau in formal statements yesterday confirmed reports that a crusade against home-brewing of alcoholic beverages is planned by the Government's prohibition enforcement agencies. The bureau did not reveal, however, the means it proposed to employ in the campaign, nor admit that it had approved preliminary instructions by Prohibition Commissioner Kramer directing that sales of malt and hops be restricted to bakers and confectioners.

"If malt extract, hops, isinglass gelatine or other materials are sold or advertised for sale in circumstances which show that they are advertised or sold for use in the unlawful manufacture of intoxicating liquor," said the statement issued last night by Commissioner Williams, of the Internal Revenue Bureau, "It is the purpose of the bureau to prosecute persons so offending. The so-called home brewed beer manufactured in the home for beverages purpose, even though for the sole use of the family and bona fide guests, is, under the bureau's construction of the law, illegal, and the sale of materials for the purpose of such manufacture is likewise illegal."

Commissioner Kramer was known to be absent from the city last night and no authoritative statement of the nature of such instructions as he has already issued in the anti-home brew campaign was obtainable. The statement of the Federal prohibition director of Ohio, however, that he had received instructions from Mr. Kramer to prevent sales of malt and hops except to bakers and to confectioners has not been denied by the Internal Revenue Bureau, although it is understood that Commissioner Williams has not as yet approved these specific orders.

There was an apparent difference of opinion between officials of the Bureau of Internal Revenue and Commissioner Kramer's staff of advisers as to the powers granted under the Volstead act with respect to prohibiting the sale of articles employed in the manufacture of beer at home. Commissioner Williams conferred during the day with aides familiar with the act and this was followed by numerous other conferences in the bureau the nature of which was not disclosed.

Officials of the prohibition unit declined to discuss any phase of the question. assistant commissioner Bliss of the prohibition staff, was among those who talked with Commissioner Williams, but neither would say what conclusions were arrived at.

The only information obtainable at prohibition headquarters indicated that the orders restricting the sale of malt and hops to which the Ohio director referred were in the form of confidential instructions sent to all enforcement officers. This method is commonly employed by Commissioner Kramer in all orders issued, no publicity being given to them except in unusual cases.

Notwithstanding the assertion of internal revenue officials that they knew nothing of the specific order, it was persistently reported that at least one official had been consulted regarding the advisability of sending it through the routine to make it a formal Treasury decision. When such orders become of Treasury record they are revoked only by the Secretary of the Treasury or Court order.

POET NOT HIRAM JOHNSON

Somebody seems to have impersonated Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, while passing through Altoona, Pa., yesterday, on a train bound east. According to a news dispatch, "Senator Johnson" handed to a reporter an eight line doggerel, in which the President was criticized in "verse."

A CORRECTION

In justice to all of the cast, it should be said that the High School play, "A Scrap of Paper," was not put on by the Junior Class exclusively, as was stated in the paper last night. Although there were a number of third year students in the production, all classes except the Freshmen were represented.

The play was presented to a large and appreciative audience last night, the comedy lines being especially well received. The part of Anatole, played by Stanley Dreifus, brought frequent applause and laughter, and Mary Asbury as Madame Dupont, also was received as enthusiastically as those taking the leading parts.

Don't fail to see the mirth-provoking farce, "A Scrap of Paper," at the High School tonight at 8:15 p. m.

The motion to set aside the verdict as contrary to the law and evidence and for a new trial today was overruled by Judge Robinson Moncure in the corporation court in the suit of W. B. Hibbs and Company of Washington against the First National Bank and Louis N. Duffey.

Several days ago a jury in the case awarded a verdict for the defendant. The amount involved was $1609.80 for stock sold through the bank for Mr. Duffey for a client of Mr. Duffey's to Hibbs and Company.

The case will be taken to the court of appeals.

Men's Meeting

Chaplain McCoy at Armistice Day Services at Richmond Theatre Tomorrow Afternoon

Kenneth Ogden and Wilmer J. Waller, accompanied by Sherman Fowler, will sing at the Y. M. C. A., men's meeting at the Richmond Theatre tomorrow afternoon at 3 o'clock. These popular men singers, will be most welcome at the special Armistice Sunday service for men and it was by popular request that they have consented to sing.

N. S. Greenaway, chairman of the religious work committee of the Y. M. C. A, says that they expect a larger crowd than last Sunday as that was the first meeting and many men had not heard of the effort being made solely in their behalf. He also stated that many men thought that a fee was charged as tickets had been issued. However, Mr. Greenaway explained that the tickets were really an urgent invitation and wished it to be known that the tickets are free and all are invited whether actually presenting a ticket or not. Dr. Francis Marian McCoy, who is to speak, is assistant to the chief of chaplains of the army and is an unusually strong speaker to men and indications point to a large crowd turning out to hear him.

HEAVY CUT IN WORKING FORCE

Officials of Pennsy Declare Traffic Slump is Coming

DROP 1350 AT ALTOONA

Grain Prices In Chicago Drop to New Low Level — Stocks Also Decline

Philadelphia, Nov. 13.—The Pennsylvania Railroad system will cut down the number of its operating employes to the absolute minimum in anticipation of a traffic slump expected this winter, signs of which are already appearing, it was announced by officials last night.

Is Permanent Step

The first step in the general reduction came yesterday, when the railroad dropped from its pay rolls 1,350 men employed at the shops at Altoona, Pa., approximately 15 per cent. of the total number of men employed at the great works there. It was stated that the action was a permanent reduction in force, and not a temporary lay-off. It was necessitated by a reduction in the volume of repair work coming into the shops.

At the time of the announcement of the Altoona force reduction it was said that the policy of the system henceforth would be to curtail the working forces to the greatest possible degree. A serious traffic slump has already set in, according to officials of the railroad, and a worse slump is expected in the near future. Officials of the road stated that the present industrial depression would strike the railroads with full force in about six weeks.

Mills Reduce Hours

Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 13.—The Lyman mills and Farr Alpaca Company, both manufacturers of textiles, yesterday announced reductions in working schedules, effective Monday. The Lyman mills employing 1,200 hands, will reduce from 48 to 30 hours a week and the Farr Alpaca Company, employing several thousand, will further reduce from four to three days a week.

Copper Mines Reduce Pay

Houghton, Mich., Nov. 13.—The Calumet and Hecla, and subsidiary mining companies, announced today a 15 per cent. cut in all wages and salaries, effective November 16. The Osceola branch of the Calumet and Hecla at White Pine and Lasalle, Mich., will be closed down and the forces of all other Calumet and Hecla mines reduced.

The low price of copper, the limited market, unsold surplus, excess production and costs are given as reasons. It is estimated that 1,500 men will be thrown out of work.

Flour Mills Face Shutdown

Topeka, Kan., Nov. 13.—The Kansas Flour Milling Industry is on the verge of a shutdown, according to a statement made here yesterday by John H. Ismert, head of a large company which operates mills here and in Kansas City. Mr. Ismert added that a number of mills, including his own, had suspended operations.

Seven Topeka milling concerns yesterday were ordered to appear before the State Court of Industrial Relations and show why they should not be held for violating the Industrial Court act "for curtailing production in an essential industry to influence prices."

A TRIBUTE TO CHARLES M. ALEXANDER

The evening service in the Second Presbyterian Church tomorrow will be of special interest. It will be a song service in memory of Charles M. Alexander, the world's song leader. STILL THINKING OF WAR

General Freidrich von Bernhardi, whose book, "Germany and the Next War," created such a stir among European nations in the year or two preceding August, 1914, has written what he styles a companion piece, "War in the Future," which seems to indicate that the results of the recent struggle have not made any essential change in the Teutonic point of view on this very important subject. It will be recalled that one of the most striking features of von Bernhardi's earlier work was a certain childlike simplicity and directness with which he discussed Germany's plans for dominating the world by force of arms. The matter of fact way in which he outlined the methods by which it was expected to subjugate France, England, and possibly the United States, came as a painful shock to many persons, who were slow to believe that such cold-blooded sentiments, destitute of all regard for international morality could be held by the German people as a whole. That they were generally accepted was revealed on the sudden outbreak of war on the flimsiest of pretexts. Von Bernhardi's latest book seems to show that there has been no change in the national view regarding war, and again he treats the subject of future hostilities with that lack of reserve which was so characteristic of his first book. Regarding the ways and means of raising a large army, despite the limitation upon numbers fixed by the peace treaty, he says frankly:

Despite the present peace terms the U-boat weapon must be developed to the utmost. That this and the formation of an army are possible is proved by what happened in the years after 1806, when Prussia, under the very eyes of the French garrisons on her territory, trained 200,000 men instead of the 42,000 allowed her.

This historical example proves once more, as do so many other examples, that every political policy which aims at achieving anything must always be so to speak, an offensive policy.

A timely interest is given to the question of a large German army by the movement in Bavaria to organize an armed militia, which has spread to the other parts of Germany. This is an evasion of the spirit of the peace treaty, just as the training of a large army in 1806 was contrary to the spirit of the peace pact made by Prussia and France. It is easy to see how a large militia could be organized in Germany which would be a standing menace to neighboring nations. France is already greatly disturbed over this possibility, as is shown by a dispatch from Berlin which quotes a member of the Allied Disarmament Commission as saying:

The Bavarian Reichswehr refuses to take any steps against the militia and we are waiting for the Government's final report that it is powerless to carry out the instructions of the commission. General Nollet's note demanding the immediate disbanding of the militia was unequivocal as its threat of drastic steps if Germany failed to comply.

These drastic steps include the occupation of the Ruhr district, and this time it looks as if France really means it despite England's opposition. Aside from the grave consequences the French occupation would entail among the radical coal miners in the Ruhr, this action would probably lead to a serious dispute between England and France.

If Germany plans trouble in the near future she should dissemble with greater care. The Allies of 1920 will not be hoodwinked as France was in 1806.

AN ALEXANDRIA INTERVIEW

Mrs. Nalls Tells Her Experience.

The following brief account of an interview with an Alexandria woman four years ago, and its equal, will be read with keen interest by every citizen.

Mrs. L. C. Nalls, 911 Duke St., Alexandria, says: "I could hardly get around the house my back was so weak and sore, and when I got down it was almost impossible to straighten up again. I couldn't rest at night and mornings I felt so weak and tired all over it was all I could do to dress. My kidneys acted irregularly and caused me a great deal of misery. My head ached a great deal; it was a dull, steady pain. I got Doan's Kidney Pills at Summer's Drug Store and the first box did me so much good I used another. My back stopped aching and my kidneys haven't caused me any trouble since."

Mrs. Nalls gave the above statement on April 10, 1915 and on March 5, 1919 she added: "I was pretty bad off with kidney trouble and nothing helped me the way Doan's Kidney Pills did. Doan's are the best kidney remedy I know of."

What Is Lightning?

Why should I change from gasoline? Is Lightning just another substitute or a safe permanently available motor fuel? Naturally such questions confront motorists who have, by this time, heard of the advantages of Lightning.

Lightning is not an enricher. It is a high grade, high power motor fuel in itself—a pure hydro-carbon developed into its present stage of perfection by the producers.

Lightning is offered with the assurance that it is as harmless as gasoline and superior in every respect, not only giving more mileage and power but a pleasant freedom from carbon trouble and a decided economy in upkeep!

TURNED ENGINE ADRIFT

Yardmen Plead Guilty to Endangering Lives During Strike

Chicago, Nov. 13.—Three members of the Chicago Yardmen's Association, which called the railroad strike last April, in defiance of the established railroad brotherhoods, pleaded guilty in Judge Landis' Court yesterday to obstructing interstate traffic by stealing an engine on the Chicago Junction Railway, opening the throttle and letting the locomotive run wild through the yards.

Sentence against the men, George W. Hansen, Alfred Gillard and James F. Tobin, was deferred until cases of six others indicted in the same case are disposed of.

Peggy Marsh to Fight Field Estate For $100,000

New York, Nov. 13.—Peggy Marsh a dark-haired soft-voiced, petite woman of 24, former New York chorus girl, returned yesterday on the Baltic determined to fight to the finish to secure $100,000 for her 4-year-old son Henry Anthony Marsh.

Miss Marsh is contending for a construction of the will of Marshall Field the multimillionaire Chicago merchant, with the object of enforcing an agreement which she alleges was entered into between herself and the late Henry Field, whereby she was to receive the fund for the support of herself and child.

The child did not cross the ocean with his mother. She may send for him later if the will fight requires the presence here.

The romance between young Mr. Field and the former chorus girl was revealed about two years ago when she first made claim to a share of the Marshall Field estate for her baby. She met the young millionaire while she was playing at the Alhambra Theatre, London.

WAGES CUT 25 PER CENT

Two Groups of Mill Workers Accept Reduction Unanimously

Danville, Va., Nov. 13.—Wage reduction, of 25 per cent, effective November 29, were announced yesterday by the Dan River and Riverside Cotton Mill Corporation, one of the largest plants of its kind in the South. The corporation further announced that two groups of its employes, as represented in the plan government system, had voted almost unanimously to accept the reduction.

The reduction, corporation officials explained, affects only the base rate pay, the economy dividend or bonus in force under the plant government system not being affected.

Low Water Cripples Lynchburg

Lynchburg, Va., Nov. 13.—Low water practically put the hydroplant out of commission here yesterday and a broken pump in the steam power station of the local electric company this afternoon left Lynchburg without street car service. Industrial plants depending on electric power closed down at 2 o'clock.

U. S. WARSHIPS TO VISIT SOUTH AMERICAN PORTS

After making a rendezvous at Balboa on the Panama Canal, the warships will cruise together to Callao, Peru, Chile, where the Atlantic fleet will pause for a visit. The Pacific fleet will continue on to Valparaiso, Chile.

Returning to Balboa, February 25, the Atlantic and Pacific sailors will compete in the annual interfleet athletic contests before parting.

Today the fleet, divided into four sections, entered the ports of New York, Boston, Philadelphia and Norfolk. At these bases, skeleton crews will be maintained aboard the eight battleships and 18 destroyers, while the 16,000 sailors and officers take turns in visiting their homes. On January 3 the four sections will go to sea again.

There is a Best in Everything

In every line of production some one brand stands out conspicuously as superior. In bread it is

Corby Bread

Why this is so is easy to understand when you look into the character of the ingredients used---and find that they are scientifically selected. They must measure up to a standard so high that it is not possible to procure better. And, too, the method of making plays its MOST important part. Again science has shown us the way; and we have invented the machinery necessary to develop in the doughs that essential element of nourishment---gluten---to the fullest extent.

Corby Bread is 100 per cent Bread
100 Per Cent Pure
